POLICE JUDGE BURNHAM THOUGHT THERE WAS A HEN ON.

Alleged Chicken Thieves Sent to the Workhouse for Fifty Days Each -Caught With Pullets in Their Possession.

F. L. Roberts and George Franklin, negroes, were sentenced to fifty days in the workhouse yesterday by Judge Burnham on general principles. The two men were arrested Monday with a half dozen chickens in their possession, and they could not give a satisfactory account of themselves. Franklin told Judge Burnham that he had returned to the city the day before after an absence of ten days. He said he knew that his father had no fatted calf to slaughter in welcoming him home and he brought the six pullets to provide a feast.

A TOUGH NEGRO DISCIPLINED.

Will Napper, a Persistent Transgressor of the Law, Is Sentenced to the Workhouse.

Will Napper, the negro who attempted to assault Officers Koger and Reidy near St. Louis avenue and State Line street last Sunday, was sentenced to 100 days in last Sunday, was sentenced to 100 days in the workhouse by Judge Burnham yesterday. Three other negroes who went to Napper's assistance when he was battling with the policemen were fined $10 each.

Napper is one of the toughest negroes the police have had to deal with for a long time. A few years ago Officer Billy Butler arrested him while be was in the act of making off with a heating stove from a second-hand store. He tossed the stove on Butler and made his escape. A few months later he struck Officer Pat Noonan on the right jaw with a loaded cane and fractured his jaw. He has been arrested a score of times for minor offenses.

Fined for Careless Driving.

In the police court yesterday morning Abe Mussetter and Elsa Treadway were fined $5 each for careless driving. Mussetter and the woman went out driving Tuesday evening. At Ninth and Walnut streets the buggy in which they were seated collided with a cable car and the woman was thrown out and slightly injured. Sergeant Newell arrested the pair and in the police court they paid the fines assessed against them.

Burglars Visit P. J. Shipman's House Burglars crawled through a basement window in the dwelling house of P. J. Shipman, of 3991 St. John avenue, Tuesday night, and searched the house from cellar to garret for valuables. Bureau drawers were ransacked and their contents left pilled up on the floor. Members of the family were sleeping in bedrooms on the second floor and did not know the house had been robbed until they arose yesterday morning. The thieves secured $20.

TO DAZZLE THE FRENCH.

Exhibit of American Products at the Paris Exposition to Be the Greatest Ever Given.

In France a man with a farm of the side of City Hall park claims place as a landed proprietor. In consequence of this, the rench farmer firmly thinks that he beats all creation. But as a rule the Frenchman forgets the United States until something happens to produce a place for it upon his mental map. Then he stands around and gawps. This year the American farmer has set out to show the Frenchman how farming is done. Out West, where they have been known to run a furrow four miles without a turn, they have turned their attention to the Frenchman's fair, and now purpose to show all Paris what's what in the way of show all Paris what's what in the way of farms and farming products.

Through the indefatigable efforts of Commissioner Peck the French commissioners have consented to allow the United States 49,000 square feet for the exhibition of its agricultural products. There are a good many squash fields over in New Jersey, of course, that are 2bout 700 times as big as this floor space, but still that doesn't matter. If the United States farmers can't spread-eagle in the way of space they'll do spread-eagle in the way of space they'll do it in the matter of quality. So, this settled, it is intended to show by as many brilliant examples as they can jam into this space some of the real marvels of United States

APES SUCCESSFUL CASHIERS. Siamese Merchants Use These Intelligent Animals to Detect Spurious Coins.

In that far-off, dried up, little Orienta country, quite near China, you know, there are large quantities of counterfeit coin in circulation, and the counterfeiters of Slam must be most proficient, for we hear that it is the hardest thing in the world to deit is the hardest thing in the world to de-tect the bad from the good money.

The merchants are often deceived and frequently swindled. The smartest men they could employ were deceived, too, for the bad money was such a wonderful imi-tation that the closest scrutiny often failed tation that the closest scrutiny often falled to find the difference between a good and a bad piece.

In this dilemma some Siamese merchants called to their help someone who was always thought not so smart as a man—a monkey. And these "large apes of Siam" proved such a success at their new avocation that the custom of employing them for the purpose of detecting bad money has become universal. The ape cashler of Siam holds his situation without a rival.

He has a peculiar method of testing coin. Every piece is handed to him and he picks up each bit of money, one at a time, and meditatively puts it into his mouth, tasting it with grave deliberation. If the coin is good he declares the fact plainly. He takes it from his mouth and carefully places it in its proper receptacle beside him. He has pronounced judgment, and everyone is satisfied that the judgment is correct.

But if the coin is bad the cashier makes known his verdict in an equally unmistakfind the difference between a good and

Now, what does a monkey know that a man cannot tell? Ah, that is his secret. He never reveals it. In the tropical heat of the afternoon Gustay Otto Martin Koch, the senior member of the firm, who is said to be an Austrian count, was married at the city hall by Alderman McMahon, to Miss Etheleen Inda Elizabeth McGahey, of Philadelphia.

The groom and his escort, Messrs. C. F. Otto Koether and Charles Wolf, set a new fashion in daylight wedding dress by appearing in claw-hammer conts and complete evening costume, a departure as important, probably, as that of the bridesmaids in New Jersey, who appeared at a recent wedding in decollete gowns.

The men in broadcloth attracted marked attention at the city hall, but the bride was the observed of all observers.

After the ceremony the party adjourned to the cozy apartment in the rear of the cigar store, where innumerable friends of Mr. Koch and his bride came to congratulate the happy pair. The rooms behind the cigar store were decorated with flowers and cooling refreshments were served to the guests.

There was an elaborate wedding receptay Otto Martin Koch, the senior member

May 19. Sheridan and a friend named Foster were on their way home at a late hour that night, and when near the corner of Twelfth and McGee streets they met two young men quarreling with two women. Foster and Sheridan went to the assistance of the women and their strange adversaries then pounced upon them. Sheridan knocked one of the men down and while he was seated on him pummeling him with his fists he pulled a pocket knife and stabbed Sheridan in the back five or six stabbed Sheridan in the back five or six times. The wounds were serious and came very near causing Sheridan's death a few days later. Yesterday afternoon while passing along the street Sheridan met and recognized the young man who stabbed him. He called Officer-Bernard and the latter placed him under arrest. At police headquarters he gave the name of J. C. Patton and his age as 22. The police hope to be able to secure from Patton the name of the other young man who was with him that night, as well as the names of the women with whom they were quarreling when Sheridan and Foster attacked them.
